APPLICATION SECURITY

With globalized technology engagement with customers, our information assets became more vulnerable to threats and need more sophisticated care and protection.

Let our skilled professionals create an end-to-end architecture that reduces your security exposure and protects not only your applications, but also the valuable data they contain in it. With accelerated release cycles and resilient applications, we will help you develop, run and maintain applications securely. Our services include:

- Data security & privacy
- Enterprise application security
- API security
- Secure application development

ERP / CRM

Every company has its own set of business processes and products that makes it unique from others operating in their industry. However, most businesses face similar operational problems as they grow. Therefore, ERP is considered the transformative force running through your business. If ERP is implemented successfully it would result in meeting with the business requirements that would allow an organization to have an integrated view of all the business process which in turns allows efficiency and effectiveness in achieving business goals. Most importantly the benefit of an ERP system is that it can save your time and expense that would enable you in taking decisions faster with comparatively much less risk.

Our team of consultants can align with your goals and follow the proven roadmap that is:

- Initiation - Identify objectives, assess risk and establish deliverables
- Planning - Design the appropriate solution and create an overall project plan
- Execution - Establish a change-control process, a communication strategy and an issue-management process
- Closure - Ensure a complete transition plan is in place from our team to yours

Tek Malia is an authorized channel partner of Focus Softnet for ERP applications.

We can be the trusted ERP partner for your business by utilizing repeatable processes that have been perfected and tested in the field that would cut your deployment time and reduce errors.

Our team comprises of highly qualified consultants with in-depth industry and business experience that would enable us in deriving maximum benefit from your ERP and CRM implementation for your business.

Our skilled consultants focus on operational excellence to help you streamline your processes, eliminate inefficiencies, increase productivity and improve your decision-making.

More than just an implementation – from programmed management and business process improvement, to change management, our clients leverage our business consulting expertise to generate improved ROI on technology investment.
